Soldiers Field Angels, SFA, announced today the completion of its final close for its first venture fund in Mexico. SFA is to be the first fund in which all partners have an active role either as mentors or managers, the key to the alpha strategy of the fund.

Venture Capital and Private Equity in Mexico have shown significant growth in the last couple of years thanks to the opportunity which lies in this market. Smart, educated and avid entrepreneurs are in search of financing to grow their businesses, and both public and private sector are responding to this need.

All of SFA's capital came from the 25 Harvard Business School Alumni Partners which pose either a managing or mentoring role. This diverse and highly involved partner structure allows for access to a diverse deal flow, a structured alpha growth strategy for invested companies and the adequate network for potential exit strategies.

About Soldiers Field Angels

Soldiers Field Angels is a Venture Capital fund which seeks to aid entrepreneurs and companies growth via smart investment of Harvard Business School alumni in Mexico. We seek high impact investment in initial rounds ranging between $50,000 USD and $250,000 USD per investment.

Due to our highly involved partner structure we are able to offer in depth experience in the following industries: Energy, Transportation, Health, Agriculture, Tourism, Education, Consumer Goods, IT, and Finance. SFA's mentorship network capitalizes years of experience and leadership which are applied to the investment portfolio, a true differentiator in the private equity industry in Mexico.
